

Learn on the Run ... A Free Online Platform

Developed by Technoosis

Get a question every day, emailed straight to you!

Would you like to stay tuned to the latest developments and practical applications in Civil Engineering & Construction?

Join "Learn on the Run", a free self learning platform from Technoosis for civil engineers and construction professionals where you can learn bit by bit and in your spare time without affecting your work schedule.

This online platform is intended primarily to arouse the interest of engineers in civil engineering/ construction and nurture it day by day. It focuses on the practical aspects and current practices in the industry. And all this, while "you are on the go!"

This is how "Learn on the Run" works ...

Every day you will get a question in your mailbox which will be based on different aspects of civil engineering and construction. You can answer it in a couple of minutes at your convenience through the day. If you answer correctly, you can earn points. However, if you answer wrongly, you will still learn the right answer and the reason thereof. Either way, you gain!

What's more, on the sidelines, you can request a Question Paper every day to test your knowledge and learn. You can also ask your questions on this Platform.

Come, let's Learn on the Run!

And make the most of this Platform and share it freely among your friends!

Team Technoosis